SIGNIFICANT. On Saturday night the Democratic delegates to the County Convention were unanimously selected. The ticket was filled up and brought in there, and upon it we notice the names of those staunch Administration Democrats, Wm. A. Blake, Moses L. Appleton, Gorham L. Boynton and others, reposing lovingly by the side of Arvida Hayford, Charles P. Stetson, &c., known Douglasites, and bitter opponents of the Administration. What does it mean? A few weeks ago there was a bitter fight, at a caucus, when this same Arvida Hayford was on the list. Has the Administration succumbed, or is Douglasism crushed out? Or is the fruits of a compromise consummated in the counting rooms of the "Union" and the "Times"? Who can tell?

INTERESTING PAPER UTAH.—Salt Lake City letters to the 3d of July, are published by the New York papers, from which we make the following extracts. The Army of Utah entered the city on Saturday, June 26th. The correspondent of the Tribune gives the following particulars.

"The advance emerged from Emigrant Kanyon about 7½ o'clock, and at a brisk halt on the bank directly above the city, ascended into the streets and pursued a route, inside the Jordan, which led it past Brigham Young's mansion, and the Lion House, the Council House, and the Temple Square, and the house of W. C. Staines, a much finer dwelling than Gov. Cumming is a guest. Each regiment and battalion was followed by its wagon train. The sun was just setting when the dragoons crossed the bridge over the Jordan.

All the flags which had been flying over since last Sunday from the staffs on Main-st. were struck by the Mormons during the passage of the troops. Most of the men who had been attracted from the south by the jubilee, watched the procession through the cracks of the boards with which their windows were barricaded. The city seemed as dead as on the day our little party of Gentiles entered it a fortnight ago. The only groups of visible spectators were on the corners near Temple Square. The few laborers who were busy in their gardens and fields, kept at their work with an indifference that was affected and amusing.

The troops, the officers included, were the rough undress usual on the march. There was perfect order in the ranks, no cheering or laughing, nothing calculated to aggravate the feelings of the Mormon population. No one was allowed to leave the column for a moment, and the order was so rigidly enforced, that a surgeon of the 5th Infantry to whom I applied to visit a sick man in a house within a block's distance of the line of march, was unable to leave his place in the regiment, but after reaching the camp, rode back five miles to see the patient. The regimental bands played during the march, but it was noticed that the music was suspended when they passed by the porch on which Gov Cumming was standing, and that no salute was paid to his Excellency."

On the 28th of June, Gov. Johnson started on a tour to examine the country to obtain a suitable location for the army. He visited the several valleys and on his return he said he had seen no point which he considered well adapted to the uses of the army. The country over which he passed he thought essentially a desert. By the following postscript to a letter to the New York Times, it seems that the army is to be permanently located in Utah:

"The army will move within two or three days, however, to Cedar Valley, about forty-five miles from Salt Lake City, ten or twelve from Lehi and fifteen or twenty from Provo, where barracks and storehouses will be immediately erected. The location is a favorable one from which to command the chief settlements with promptness and efficiency.

Grass is very scarce however, for large herds, and it has been decided to send back to Fort Leavenworth all the animals not absolutely necessary to be retained by the camp."

Gov. Cuming has forwarded to Washington a petition for the removal of some of his evil associates. Who has the signers of the petition is not known, but the following are the officers whose removal is desired:

Hon. D. H. Bobby, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; John M. Hockaday, District Attorney; Dr. Garland Hunt, and Mr. C. L. Craig, Indian Agents; and Mr. H. P. Merrill, Postmaster of the Salt Lake City.

The latter writers mention the rumor that Gov. Cuming and Dr. Forney, Superintendent of Indian affairs, made promises to the Mormons which the Commissioners knew nothing about, and with which a peace could not have been concluded. These letters are treated with much consideration by the Mormons, as will be seen by the following paragraph from one of the letters:

"Dr. Forney started for the farm, from Salt Lake City on Tuesday last. On Wednesday he took a ride and held a singular conversation with some of the Saints. Among the participators in it was Heber C. Kimball who advanced to the Doctor's chair age and blessed him and Gov. Cuming and Col. Kane stating that he had a right to bless them in name of Israel's God and that he would always pray for them."

Brigham Young preached at Provo July 4, and his sermon is reported by the letter writer recently. During his discourse Brigham became excited, and burst into a tirade against President Buchanan, calling him a "driveling old dotard, whose poor party mine should have been President twenty-five years ago, when he had a little sense about him, if ever." In another place, he applied the term "ruffians" to the army, and then stopped short as if he remembered that he was being reported by the Gentiles. B. Young afterwards suggested to the reporters to leave out these passages and also requested a report of his discourse made by Mormon reporters, in which the offensive remarks were omitted.

The correspondent of the Tribune says:

"To my certain knowledge Brigham Young signed his name to an official paper as late as the 16th inst. as 'Governor and Superintendent of Indian Affairs.'

Twenty-six sacks of back mails, weighing 5500 pounds, arrived from the east at the end of last week. They contained only old Patent Office reports and Congressional Globes, under the frank of Mr. Barrett. The cost of the transportation to the territory was just about $10 000.

TAKE TWO OR THREE.—A beautiful youth who lives not a thousand miles from this city, was putting modest attention to a beautiful young lady, who rejoices in the possession of an interesting male, about six years old. The other evening he was enjoying a social chat with the young lady, who trying to nerve himself to ask the terrible question, when the little nuisance entered the room. A new thought struck him—taking her on his knee, he asked in a quivering voice:

"Fanny dear, are you willing I should have your aunt for my own, I will give you five hundred dollars for her."

"Oh! yes" said the little thing clapping her hands with glee, "But Sandy, you better give me a thousand dollars and take two of them!"

It is needless to add that Sandy the fairy's answer overcame all restraint, and it is happy day indeed.

Little Fanny is now a great favorite with both of them.

Yarmouth, July 19—Communications with the interior interrupted. Zuloaga's prospects gloomy. Gov Montoya had gone with 800 men to put down a rising in favor of the Constitutionalists in Lubbock. Gov Martin administers the government in his absence."

The Detroit Board of Education, who must be a little waggishly inclined, have adopted as a device for the seal of that body, a handsome young school mistress in a thinly flounced dress, with her left hand in a left hand pocket, having a stitch in her side, from which indeed is wide open, from which issues the motto of the seal—"Strike, but hear me!"

The New York Commissioners of Emigration, who are said to be unfriendly to the hospital practice, have donated $250 to Dr. Morton, of Massachusetts, as its first discoverer. In the Board of Ten Governors a resolution to give him $1500 was acted upon favorably.

THE CALCUTTA TRADE.—At the latest dates from Calcutta four British ships were loading there for Boston and two for New York. The rates of freight to England were very low, the demand being for Europe and for the United States.

George P. Edgar, late publisher of a religious paper in New York, called the Way of Life, has been arrested and held for trial on a charge of obtaining printing paper on false pretenses having represented that he had ten thousand subscribers to his paper, while there were only six hundred, &c. A clerk in this establishment was recently sent to Blackwell's Island for embezzlement.

An old "Henry Clay Whig" nominates in the Richmond Whig the following ticket: For President John C. Crittenden of Kentucky; for Vice President, Robert C. Winthrop of Massachusetts.

ARREST AND ESCAPE.—Simonds, of St. Louis, who made and sold a counterfeit of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, has been placed within the narrow limits that should retain all counterfeits. Imprisonment, though it be for years, can scarcely punish enough the heartless villain who could execute such an imposition upon the sick. The wicked rascal who for paltry gain could thus trifle with the life and health of his fellow man—take from his lips the cup of hope while asking, can substitute at other occasions and chose, should falter at no crime, and should be spared no punishment. A case of his trade is still extant in the West, and purchasers should be wary of whom they buy.—Gazette, Utica, N. Y.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. R. S. Prescott was thrown from his carriage yesterday afternoon, on Central street, and suffered considerable injury to his face and head.

CONCERT.—The public will do well to recollect the concert by Messrs Jungnickel & Hause this evening at the City Hall. A correspondent, after paying a deserved compliment to the excellence of the music, very justly complains that too long a time elapsed between the pieces, and that there was a disposition to lengthen out the first concert. Very few people can stay until 11 o'clock at a concert of instrumental music, even though it be as fine as the present series, without voting it a bore.

LL. D.—The degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Jonas Cutting, Esq., of this city, one of the Justices of our Supreme Judicial Court, at the recent commencement at Dartmouth College.

DEATH OF AN OLD SHIPMASTER.—Captain Woodbury Byer, of Cape Elizabeth, who has been a ship master from fifteen to twenty years, died at his residence at Cape Elizabeth last Sunday.

STUMP MACHINE. Owing to the rain yesterday Mr. Hall did not work his stump machine as was proposed. It will be at work at his farm in Brewer, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, where persons interested can examine it.

DISASTER.—Schooner Excel, of Bath, Capt. Eldridge, lumber laden, caught by the stern at ebb tide that forenoon at mouth of Kenduskeag stream and pitched by the head, straining her and opening seams. That afternoon with flood tide, she righted but filled. She probably started but a few, and will have to discharge for repairs.—Times, 2d.

RESCUED.—About twenty individuals were rescued into the First Baptist Church in Portland yesterday,—fifteen of whom were baptized by immersion, by Rev. Dr. Shailer on Saturday evening. The services at the baptism on Saturday evening, at the church, were exceedingly interesting. Several of the candidates were heads of families, and one of them exceeded the age of three score years and ten. The church was crowded to overflowing, and large numbers went away unable to gain admittance.

Two military officers in Havana (young men,) had a quarrel at a gambling table. To avenge the wounded honor of one or the other, a duel was resorted upon. Accompanied by seconds, they met according to appointment in an old quarry. The weapons were swords. One of the principals was cut down, and whilst he lay upon the ground, his opponent's second who, it appeared had some private pique against him, drew a pistol from his pocket and shot the wounded man, from which he died. His second, drawing his sword, attacked the murderer; however, he and his principal made good their escape, and have not as yet been apprehended. The youth who was murdered, was the nephew of General Lersundi, the Captain General of Madrid, and that unless the guilty party has effected, or does effect his escape from the island, he will most likely receive that punishment which his cowardice merits.

SHOE BUSINESS OF LYNN.—A large number of merchants from the South and West have visited Lynn during the past two weeks, to lay in stocks for the fall trade. They have, however, bought carefully, and the amount of sales has been about one half of what it used to be in the same time prior to the financial crisis.

SEVERAL persons were arrested at Cincinnati on the 27th, for passing counterfeit money, of which considerable was found upon them, including bills on the Holly Tree Bank, the Merchants' Bank of Newburyport, and other Eastern banks.

A rattlesnake, of large size, was lately found in bed with two children, in Peoria, Illinois. The children were removed without being bitten, and the snake then dispatched.

LIKE STORM IN MASSACHUSETTS.—Boston, August 24. "A severe hail-storm, doing much damage to crops, passed the eastern portion of Massachusetts yesterday.

The Fraser River Diggings, &c.

There is now an immense excitement, not only in California, but in our own State, in relation to the new diggings discovered at Fraser's River. It seems highly probable, from all we can learn, that gold exists in that vicinity to a great extent, but it is hardly probable that all the fabulous stories which are told of the immense lumps and rich claims, will be believed. We have already heard too many of them before this to place implicit confidence in a new story, although it comes with a great show of plausibility.

As the Hudson's Bay Company are so intimately connected with the new diggings, it may not be uninteresting to those persons contemplating sending goods or emigrating thither, to give a history of the country, and the rights privileges and extent of the Company. It will be seen that the charter of the Company expires next spring.

We copy the following from Goodrich's Pictorial History:

HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY'S TERRITORIES—History. A charter was granted by Charles II. in 1670, to certain English subjects, under the name of 'The Hudson's Bay Company,' in virtue of which they were allowed the exclusive privilege of establishing trading factories on the Hudson's Bay and its tributary rivers. Soon after the grant, the company took possession of the territory, and enjoyed its trade without opposition, except from the French, which ended with the cession of Canada to the English. But in 1787, a powerful rival was organized, under the title of the 'North American Fur Company of Canada.' This company was chiefly composed of Canadian-born subjects—men whose native energy and thorough acquaintance with the Indian character, peculiarly qualified them for the dangers and hardships of a fur trader's life in the frozen regions of British America. Accordingly, we soon find this company outreaching in enterprise and commercial importance their less active neighbors of Hudson's Bay, and the jealousies naturally arising between parties so situated, leading to the most barbarous battles, and the sacking and burning each other's posts. This state of things, in 1819, arrested the attention of parliament, and an act was passed in 1821, consolidating the two companies into one, under the title of 'The Hudson's Bay Company.'

The association is now, under the operation of their charter, and of a license for exclusive trade for 21 years, from May 30th, 1838, in all the North-Western British territory not included in their charter, in sole possession of all that tract of country bounded north by the northern Arctic Ocean; east by the Davis' Straits and the Atlantic Ocean; south and south-westwardly by the northern boundary of the Canadas and a line drawn through the centre of Lake Superior, thence north-westwardly to the Lake of the Woods, thence west on the 49th parallel of north latitude to the Pacific Ocean; and on the west by a line commencing at the last mentioned point, and running northwardly along the Pacific coast to 54 deg. 40 min. north latitude, and thence along the maritime range of hills till it intersects the 141st parallel of longitude west from Greenwich, Eng., and thence due north to the Arctic Sea. In this territory, Vancouver's Island, etc., are included. They have also leased for twenty years commencing in March, 1840, for an annual payment of 2000 otter skins, all of Russian America, south of 56 deg. north latitude, the lease renewable at the pleasure of the Company.

Hudson's Bay Company—Organization and Trade. The stockholders are British capitalists, resident in Great Britain—239 in number, according to the printed list of November, 1847, and representing a capital of £400,000. From these are elected a board of managers, who hold their meetings and transact their business at 'The Hudson's Bay House,' in London. This board buy goods and ship them to their territory, sell the furs for which they are exchanged, and do all other business connected with the Company's transactions, except the actual business of collecting furs, in their territory—a duty which is entrusted to a class of men who are called partners, but who, in fact, receive certain portions of the annual net profits of the Company's business, as a compensation for their services.

An annual Council, composed of the Governor-general, chief factors and chief traders, is held at York Factory. Before this body are brought the reports of the trade of each district; propositions for new enterprises, and modifications of old ones, and all these and other matters deemed important, being acted upon, the proceedings had thereon and the reports from the several districts are forwarded to the Board of Directors in London, and subjected to its final order.

This shrewd Company never allow their territory to be overstapped. At the annual return from any well trapped district be less in any year than formerly, they order a less number still to be taken, until the beaver and other fur-bearing animals have time to increase. The income of the Company is thus rendered uniform, and their business perpetual.

Some idea may be formed of the great profit of their business, from the facts that the shares of the Company's stock, which originally cost £100, are 130 per cent. premium, and that the dividends range from 10 per cent. upward, and this too, while they are creaming out of the net proceeds an immense reserve-fund, to be expended in keeping other persons out of the trade.

They also have two migratory trading and trapping establishments of fifty or sixty men each. The one traps and trades in Upper California, the other, in the country lying west, south, and east of Fort Hall. They also have a steam vessel heavily armed, which runs along the coast, and among its bays and inlets, for the twofold purpose of trading with the natives in places where they have no post, and of outbidding and quelling any American vessel that attempts to trade in those seas.—They likewise have five sailing vessels, measuring from 100 to 500 tons burthen, and armed with cannon, muskets, cutlasses, etc. These are employed a part of the year in various kinds of trade about the coast and the islands of the North Pacific, and the remainder of the time in bringing goods from London, and bearing back the furs for which they are exchanged.

One of these ships arrives in the spring of each year, laden with coarse woollens, cloths, baizes and blankets; hardware and cutlery; cotton cloth, calicoes, and cotton handkerchiefs; tea, sugar, coffee, and cocoa; tiles, tobacco, soap, beads, guns, powder, lead, rum, wine, brandy, gin and playing cards; boots, shoes, and ready-made clothing, etc.; also, every description of non-stored, canvas, cordage, paints, oils, chains and chain-cables, anchors, etc. Having discharged its supplies, it takes a cargo of lumber to the Sandwich Islands, or of flour and goods to the Russians at Sitka or Kamschatka returns in August; receives the furs collected, and sails again for England."

The value of peltries annually collected in Oregon, by the Hudson's Bay Company, is about $140,000 in the London or New York market. The prime cost of the goods exchanged for them is about $20,000. To this must be added the per centage of the officers, as governors, factors, etc., the wages and food of about 600 men, the expense of shipping to bring supplies of goods and take back the returns of furs, and two years' interest on the investments. The Company made arrangements, in 1839, with the Russians at Sitka and at other ports about the sea of Kamschatka, to supply them with flour and goods at fixed prices. And as they can afford to sell goods purchased in England, under a contract of fifty years' standing, 20 or 30 per cent cheaper than American merchants can, there seems a certainty that the Hudson's Bay Company will engross the entire trade of the North Pacific, as it long did that of Oregon.

Judicial Authority. Soon after the union of the two Companies, the British Parliament passed an act extending the jurisdiction of the Canadian courts over the territories occupied by these fur traders, whether it were "owned" or claimed by Great Britain. Under this act certain gentlemen of the Fur Company were appointed justices of the peace, and empowered to entertain prosecutions for minor offences, arrest and send to Canada criminals of a higher order; and try, render judgment, and grant execution in civil suits where the amount in issue should not exceed £200; and in case of non-payment, to imprison the debtor at their own costs, or in the jails of Canada.

Surface. Naturally, the region consists of three sections; one drained by the rivers flowing into the great Lakes and Hudson's Bay; another, by those flowing into the Pacific Ocean; and the third by those which, rising in the high lands which bound the great central valley, empty themselves by a northerly course into the Arctic Ocean. The first comprehends the "Hudson's Bay Territory Proper;" a region of lakes and marshes, and rivers, where a few mountains rise above the savage and icy plain; the third, and more northern, has been little explored, nor is it probable that it will contribute much to the purposes of commerce, being ice-bound and unrewarding, and inhabited by a half-starved race, whose only means of subsistence is fishing and hunting; the second, which lies west of the Rocky Mountains, though more promising, is nevertheless an inhospitable region, except a small slip along the Pacific, and in the more southerly portions of the country. These regions are occupied by the Hudson's Bay Company, and used for the purpose of trapping and hunting.

Barren Grounds. Of the three great divisions above mentioned, the eastern portion of the second, extending as far to the west and south as Coppermine river, the Great Slave, Athabasca, Wollaston and Deer lakes and the Churchill river, (thus including also a part of the basin of Hudson's Bay,) is known to the traders by the appellation of The Barrens or Barren Grounds, a name derived from the scarcity of wood throughout almost the entire extent, except in the vicinity of some of the streams. There are, indeed, shrubs and bushes, some of full size, and some stunted trees, but none suitable for fuel or other economical purposes. A striking physical feature of the Barren Grounds consists in a succession of small lakes in narrow valleys, and connected by rapid streams, offering in many cases, serious impediments to the passage of boats.

Woody District. South of the Barren Grounds commences the "Woody District," also a primitive region, with a thin soil abounding with lakes and streams, and partially covered with wood, chiefly firs and pines, but towards the west including vast tracts of bare prairie.

Labrador. The prevailing features of Labrador, from 50 to 60 deg. north latitude, and from 56 to 78 deg. west longitude, are rocks, lakes, swamps, and mountains. The Straits of Belle Isle have an iron bound coast, with several good harbors adjacent, but this wild and sterile region is never likely to be used for any other purposes than hulking and furhunting.

Hudson's Bay. Hudson's Bay is about 900 miles in length by 600 at its greatest breadth, with a surrounding coast of 3 000 miles, generally high, rocky, rugged, and sometimes precipitous. It is navigable for a few months in summer, but for the remainder of the year is filled up with fields of ice. The entrance is by Hudson's Strait, which is about 500 miles long, with a varying breadth and with an intricate navigation through several islands.—The navigation of the Bay itself is extremely dangerous, as it contains many shoals, rocks, sand-banks and islands, while the Straits, even during summer, abound with icebergs. The transitions of the thermometer in summer are from 100 deg to 40 deg in two days, and the force of rain are surprising. The range of the thermometer throughout the year is 140 deg, and the climate, whether in winter or summer, is horrible.

From the middle of October to the middle of May, the country on the shore of Hudson's Bay is buried under snow. The thermometer in January sinks sometimes to 50 degrees below zero, and the ice does not generally break up till July. Even in the rooms of the factories, where perpetual fires are kept up, brandy freezes solid. The rivers and lakes, ten or twelve feet deep, are frozen to the bottom, and the greatest precautions are necessary against the effects of the cold air, which is frequently filled with small particles of angular ice; and, when driven against the face or hands, raises the skin, in white blisters, which break out in thin watery sores. The sun is often obscured for weeks, by thick fogs, caused by watery vapors ascending from the sea, and which, condensed by the cold, hang all around the coast, and extend inland for a considerable distance.

Fraser's River, a large stream which enters the gulf of Georgia just north of the 49th degree of latitude, runs through New Caledonia, but owing to its dangerous falls is not navigable except in the upper part of its course. The climate of this region is not favorable to agriculture, a natural result of its situation between two ranges of mountains, both constantly covered with snow, which rise six feet deep in the plains and valleys, from November to May. There are many spots of fertile land, but the late and early frosts are a great obstacle to agriculture, and as the Company's posts, only potatoes and turnips can be cultivated.—Trees are abundant, the cedar, fir, and hemlock, growing to an immense size.

The coast abounds with harbors, inlets, and islands, of which that called Vancouver's or Quadra, is the largest and most important, being 280 miles long, with an average breadth of 50 miles, and possessed of several good harbors. Queen Charlotte's Island at the northern limit of the British territory on the coast, though less in size than Vancouver's, is very extensive, and has some good harbors.—Attention has lately been attracted to it by a report of gold discoveries there.

The population of the Hudson's Bay Company's Territories, including the settlements on Red river and that of Vancouver's island, and all the aboriginal inhabitants who obtain their supplies by hunting furs for the Company, does not amount to 100 000; nor indeed does any part of their possessions, except some very narrow spots, seem capable of ever being any thing more than a mere hunting ground.

THE OCEAN TELEGRAPH.—There is much force in the following suggestion which we take from an article on "The Ocean Telegraph," a volume of essays by James L. Barker. We may derive a crumb of comfort from his suggestion for the probable failure of the enterprise:

"But if we regard the Ocean Telegraph as a matter of dollars and cents we shall probably find that England, being the great centre, will reap the lion's share. Not only so, but that we shall be large losers by this cable, which we have sent our "Niagara" to assist in laying down. Under our present tariff system we are already too near England, and whatever brings us nearer must ensure her benefit and our loss. A fortnight will be saved in the return of orders sent out to England for goods, and this will operate just so much against our own industry. It will afford additional facility for British agents, who are our principal importers, to watch the markets and flood us with foreign goods. It will make it so much the more difficult for us to compete with them and injure us by just the time saved by the telegraphic wire, and that is about one-half. Thus all great discoveries for facilitating the intercourse of nations ensure to the benefit of those who have been wise, at the expense of those who have been foolish. We might have been in a position to have reaped as much benefit from this wonderful discovery as England, but we have placed ourselves in such a position, that while she dances, we shall have the satisfaction of paying the piper. Of this great and glorious satisfaction we may be sure. Let us hope that what we lose in wealth may be made up to us in some other way, though, excepting in our diplomatic intercourse, it is not easy to see what way that will be. Our merchants will have earlier intelligence of their vessels, and of the markets for freights, but whether that will increase their profits is by no means certain. The truth is, beyond the shadow of doubt, that the nearer you bring two nations situated as as we are relatively to England, the more you benefit the centre, and the more you reduce the extremity. We could have been a centre ourselves had we chosen, and must be content to go to the wall as the weaker vessel. We must be a sort of suburb of the great metropolis, for such, under our present system of duties, the telegraph will make us. As we have sowed we must be contented to reap. This is the great law, and from that law we can have no exemption."

The Charleston Mercury attacks the Hon. Jefferson Davis for some expressions in his recent speech at Portland, Me. It wants to know who the hon Senator meant when he spoke, in one of those speeches in the North, of "trifling politicians in the South," who talk of the dissolution of the Union. It recalls the unpleasant reminiscence that in 1850 and 1852 he himself was a secessionist, and did all he could to induce the people of Mississippi to dissolve the Union by seceding from it.

Price Current Poetry.

The conjecture is made, every once in a while,
That our newspaper prints our true English would spoil,
So many cant phrases are brought into use,
That our Saxon is getting at least quite diffuse.

The queerest of all are our "Market Reports," Embracing expressions of various sorts,
Denoting the changes in certain commodities,
In way leading often to thinking how odd it is,

The rarest truisms are here found display'd,
With novelty's interest to men of the trade,
That "iron is firm," and that "lead" is found heavy,
No very great tax on our faith would levy

That "lard" may be "light," and that "oil" is still "lighter,"
Is explain'd by the statement that "money" is "tighter,"
That "hemp" is "more stringent," in part, if not quite,
May be owing to the fact "operations" are "tight."

Whether "cotton" is "active" or proves to be "quiet,"
Makes the greatest of change in the trafficker's cart,
That "molasses" is "dull" is a sorrowful letter,
Till relieved by assurance that "spirits are better."

That "beef" is "unchang'd" is a cause of true joy,
In dog-days, to those who such food may employ,
That "cheese" is "more lively" is not very strange,
Though the market for "money" be found "much out of change."

That "flour," as is known by the latest advising,
Is "in active demand" and most clearly is "rising,"
"A shade or two higher," is owing, at least
In some measure, to a rise that appears in the east

That "oats" may "tend upwards," is not always quite
A proof that they're good—but that heads may be light,
That "pork" is found "better" is cause of rejoicing,
Where distillery slops its rank growth have such voracious.

"Ashes" being "inactive," we well can conceive—
Though sometimes in them may "their wonted fire live,"
That "rye" is found "steady" is rather more strange,
When reflecting what follows its liquified change

That "stocks," in the line of some fam'd railway track,
Are call'd "looking up," means they're "flat on their back,"
That "feathers" are "buoyant," and so too are "corks,"
Shows how circumspectly the "Price Current" works.

Change of Running a Ship at Sea.—Last Saturday afternoon U. S. Marshal Wm. O'Donnell of New Bedford, arrived in Boston, bringing with him Conrad Emmel, third mate, Alex. Worden, fourth mate, Augustus Hartt and George E. Austin, seamen, all of the ship Captain Cortes of New Bedford, who are charged with setting fire to the ship on the 21st of March last, off the island of Madagascar. Have secured passage together with E. P. Lakeman captain of the Cortes arrived at New York from on Tuesday last, in the whaling ship Edward, Captain Slocum, Andrew Cornell and Albert D. Swain, two of the crew of the Cortes were also brought home in the Herald, as witnesses in the case. The accused were committed to jail for examination. A correspondent of the Traveller says:

"The charge is that of setting fire off the island of Madagascar, March 22d, the ship coming thirty-two persons, who were obliged to take the boats, leaving their vessel to entire destruction, but were picked up by the whaling bark Brewster, and taken to Port Louis. It was supposed that the fire was accidental, but after developements have led to the suspicion, strengthened by the confessions of three of the crew, that the vessel was deliberately set on fire by some of the officers and crew, who have had trouble with the captain. It appeared to get clear of the ship, from what I hear was an opportunity of deserting. That part is supposed, was, after setting the ship on fire, to leave in one of the boats, but the plan in some way prevented. Had they succeeded, those left behind in all probability would have perished with the vessel. The statement of the captain is that the fire was discovered breaking out about midnight by the third mate. Every attempt to check the progress of the flames proved futile. Before taking to the boats they had but a poor chance of provisions for their dangerous voyage, but fortunately they were seen and rescued after having been a few hours on the ocean. Two of the persons engaged in the attempt are to be under government witnesses. One of the crew confessed a statement that when it was discovered that the ship was committed, the two leaders who had determined to be bold to set fire and abandon it, and other combustibles on fire, had very narrow escapes, the dense smoke which issued from the ship's cause a suffocating feeling, and if there had not been a rope hanging down they would have miserably perished."

Barnard Reference.—The Concord, N.H. Statesman, says that a hearing has been in progress in that city, for some days before Judge Shepley, of Portland, and Francis O. Watts and Robert Male, of Boston, referees, to award damages in the case of an alleged contract broken by the Boston and Lowell and Nashua and Lowell Railroads, from which the citizens of Nashua and Concord, 24 miles apart, have suffered damages. Some years ago a treaty was made between the three roads between Concord and Nashua, that they as a whole should run the same number of trains. It is claimed that the Boston and Lowell R. R., by breaking this agreement and putting in more on upper roads traffic, caused business to be diverted from a portion of Lay Concord roads, and is liable for damages.

American & Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents,

(Late Agent of U S Patent Office, Washington under Act of 1837.)

75 State Street, opposite Kilby-st.,

BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also in Great Britain France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents executed on liberal terms, and with despatch Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity of utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same—Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington

This Agency is not only the largest in New England but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate The immense practice of the subscribed, during twenty years past has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents These, besides his extensive library of law and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe place him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors

TESTIMONIALS

During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents R H Eddy Esq of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as the agent for procuring patents for citizens of Mass, if any, per as acting in that capacity, who had at one time or more before the Patent Office and there were none who conducted it with more fidelity and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States and have no hesitation in favoring inventors (as they can at any time rely upon his prompt and faithful attention to the business entrusted to him) with the assurance that their applications in his hands will be prosecuted with as much fidelity and success as if they were prosecuted by myself

LINCOLN'S WATER PROOF BLACKING, AND LEATHER PRESERVATIVE.

Keep your Feet dry and you will seldom need a Physician.

IT is not a truth that when the feet are often wet, it is one of the greatest causes of sudden consumption? It is a truth that when leather is often wet and dried, it soon becomes hard, stiff, and cracks; but when it is water-proof it is remedied. By the application of this preservative, it remains soft, and entirely impervious to water.

After being engaged for 25 years in the manufacturn of Leather in all its branches, and being often troubled with wet feet myself, I was led to experimenting on different compositions, and found it easy to make it water-proof, but at the same time extremely injurious to the leather At last by a chemical process, I discovered a preparation which perfectly harmonizes with the astringent properties with which leather is tanned. It will not only make leather water-proof, but it likewise softens the leather, and it will Positively wear twice as long.

I have now used it for three years, and a large part of that time have worked in wet Tannery, with my boots constantly in water, and have not had my feet wet during that time. I can therefore in all confidence, recommend it to the public as the best article in the market.
